Dear Emily,

It's been a while since I last heard from you. I often wonder how you feel, if your family is fine, if your school life is boring or exciting, and how many new friends you have made over the past year and a half.

Do you remember Pam Gray from class 4B? We used to go to dancing classes together after school when we were in the lower secondary. Well, I bumped into her on my way to school the other day. I hadn't met her for three years. She is now studying at the National Ballet Academy. Can you believe it? She said she had been preparing for a ballet competition in New York the following month. If she won it, she would get a scholarship for a year at the International Ballet Institute – which is an elite institution apparently. She sounded so excited and so determined at the same time that I think I envied her! That's because I haven't made up my mind yet what to do after I graduate. Have you? Oh, I'm longing to have one of our heart-to-heart conversations about university, about our careers, about our future...

By the way, my parents have promised to let me go backpacking around the country for a fortnight this summer if I take all my exams. Have you made any plans for the summer yet? Would you like to come with me? My twin brothers will be back to England for their summer break and they are coming as well. You must remember they are both fans of hiking and they know a lot of routes suitable for beginners like us. I'm sure it'll be fun! Please talk to your parents and let me know. We can start the first week of August.

Then you can spend one more week with us at home. My mum often asks after you and your parents and she'd be delighted to have you as a guest for a while. Then we will have one more week in August to do whatever you suggest doing.

Please write back ASAP.

Best wishes,
Mary-Anne
